The Artists for Change NOW project was founded in June of 2020 as a recognition that systemic racism has gone on for far too long, and that we need real change, right NOW.

The project is meant to be a clear statement that TheCAD and the artists it supports denounce racism, the institutions that support structural racism, and political rhetoric that emboldens white supremacy. It's also meant to be a clear statement that we support the Black, and 'IPOC communities, and understand that it is our responsibility to take action to fix systemic issues of racism in the United States, and globally.

Because art is an essential service that helps to document, define, and shape our culture, it is critically important to support the development of a racially and economically diverse cohort of young artists to ensure our future is shaped by all communities. In order to do so, various artists have teamed up with TheCAD to donate their artwork in exchange for collectors' donations to causes fighting for social justice; including a scholarship that is being stood up by TheCAD.

We recognize that the amount of support we have for this project is much greater than the art that we have to offer. We hope that this project gives you energy to continue to fight racism within your own communities, and to continue efforts for broad structural change.

Some of the most important ways you can fight racism from home are to make sure you educate yourself on the history of racism in the United States, and around the globe. Secondly, become comfortable talking about race and racism, and understanding your place in systems of oppression. Also practice having difficult conversations that are often avoided, as this avoidance leads to the complacency that has resulted in years of injustice. And finally, reflect on what you can do as an individual to make a difference, we support you to go take action!

We are grateful to be a voice in this critical moment, and want to thank you for your interest in Artists for Change NOW.

If you have any questions please don't hesitate to reach out.
